News to Save Your Smile

A Word From Dr. Stewart

Useless but Smile Provoking News:

- Squids have eyeballs the size of volleyballs.
- Slugs have 4 noses.
- Children grow faster in the spring.
- You burn more calories sleeping than watching TV.
- When the moon is directly over you, you weigh less.

As many of you know, my wife, Judy, and I have been working toward getting a private secular school started. I am happy to report that Applied Scholastics Academy of Maryland is open. The school is enrolling grades 1-8. As a professional, a business owner and a father I recognize the importance of a good education for all of our children. I ran across a definition of education that I thought was poignant. "the act or process of imparting or acquiring general knowledge, developing the powers of reasoning and judgment, and generally of preparing oneself or others intellectually for mature life."

I think most of you would agree that we want our children to be educated in such a way to be prepared to have a successful and happy life in which they are fulfilling their personal goals. The goal of our school is to do just that – prepare each student for life. Our program is designed so that each child is assessed and an individualized educational program is created for each child. Our standards in each subject are well understood by the student. This allows him to advance to more difficult levels easily. We also teach each student a study method that allows him to become an independent self-motivated learner. Indeed, this is perhaps the most important aspect of the school. We want each child to come out of the school being an excellent student. Knowing how to study enables a person to understand and apply anything – even after school.

If you are interested in learning more about our school, you can visit www.appliedscholastics.org or call the school directly at 301-327-8505.
